THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18, 1878.

THERE is in most civilized communities one or more individuals whose chief occupation in life seems to be, metaphorically speaking, treading on their neighbours' toes, or receiving delicate attentions of that nature from others. These unfortunate people appear in our courts of justice and law, sometimes as complainants and sometimes as defendants, with almost the regularity of clockwork, and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it comes out very clearly that the affairs in which they are engaged have arisen entirely through a lack, on their part, of a little tact, discretion, or common sense. In this Colony we are troubled with one of these individuals in the person of Mr. Thomas Ide Bowler. The career of that gentleman during the last few years is suggestive of the ideal Irishman at Donnybrook Fair, who trilled the tails of his great-coat in the mud and invited people to step upon it and get their brains split. We are very glad to observe that Mr. Francis made an effort yesterday to reform Mr. Bowler by the infliction of a fine, the amount of which apparently caused our troublesome friend a little surprise. His impudence, however, seems unabated, if one may judge from the few lines from his pen appearing in our contemporary of this morning. Mr. Bowler, according to his own statements, is one of the most active workers in the cause of humanity in Hongkong, and, at the same time, one of the most ill-used members of the community. We should prefer classing him in the same category as Mrs. Pettendreich, who gained so much notoriety a few years ago in the London Police Courts. It will be remembered that that amiable lady had a strong antipathy to cab-men, and an inordinate love for cats, the indiscreet exercise of these two passions necessitating an almost weekly attendance, on her part, for several years before the metropolitan magistrates. Mr. Bowler seems to have taken an equally strong antipathy to old women and chair coolies, and an equally inordinate passion for dogs, and among these likes and dislikes he appears to be rapidly erecting himself into something approaching pretty closely to a public nuisance.

The Royal English Opera Company repeat the performance of "Genevieve de Brabant" to-night at the City Hall Theatre. The opera is among the best produced by the Company.

Some fears have been entertained that a gale of some description is not far off from our shores, as the Barometer has fallen fully a tenth since ten o'clock—a circumstance which, with a northerly wind, means a gale somewhere. Many of the natives have evidently become alarmed, and as they do not judge by barometers or the exact position of the heavenly bodies in arriving at their conclusions as to the state of the weather, we think that some reliance must be placed on their local knowledge, which is much less seldom astray than many may imagine. A large number of small craft have been clearing over to harbours of refuge, and there are even movements noticeable amongst the foreign shipping, which indicate that alarm has got abroad. The river steamers are lying with banked fires, sailing vessels are busy clearing haws, and prudent masters who might otherwise be inclined to remain on shore are returning on board. Some appear to think that the 26th instant is likely to prove a stormy day, but all or nearly all are pretty confident that severe weather is sure to be experienced within the next few days. All had better be prepared, and do what they may think necessary to guard against the worst.

The Cornhill Magazine for August contains an article on "Malay Life in the Philippines" from the pen of Mr. W. G. Palgrave. Her Majesty's Consul at Manila, Mr. Palgrave apparently does not believe that Western enterprise would be beneficial to the Philippines. The following is a specimen of the glowing way in which he writes of life as it at present exists there:—

O balmy life-giving breezes of the wide Pacific, with enjoyment in every flutter of your wings! O golden glories of the evening sun-god, ere yet he withdraws from view within his cloud-built palace of amber and crimson, reared on the deep immensity of blue! Long be yours to range and reign over the waving emerald of the parcelled rice-field, the unpruned freedom of the fruit-clustered bough, the bannered flagpole of the yellowing cane-patch, the green glister of the plantain-grove, the triumph of the stately garden-palm, while frequent amid them, each sheltering its contented owner-pasant and the children-inheritors of the land, rise the little thatched cottages, unwaded by the vast constructions of overshadowing capital, unsmothered by Western smoke and enginery; while the fruit-bearing land smiles her bounty on her orphaned children, and the children yet claim for their own the native bosom of their own land.

This sort of thing goes on through several pages of the article. We have heard many bitter expressions of annoyance lately at the most vexatious restrictions to which foreigners and foreign enterprise are subjected in the Philippines by the authorities there, and we are inclined to believe Mr. Palgrave would be affording a greater amount of satisfaction to his countrymen, and rendering himself more worthy of his salary, if he devoted the time spent in writing sentimental rubbish of this nature to the duties of his office, and the protection of British subjects and enterprise in Manila. He denounces Europe as "gaulf and insatiable" in the course of the article.

It is announced that Vice-Admiral Robert Coote, C.B., the Naval commander-in-chief on the China Station, with his secretary and flag-lieutenant, will probably leave Southampton by the P. & O. steamer of the 3rd Oct., which is due at Hong Kong on the 21st Nov. relieving Vice-Admiral H. S. Hillyar, C.B., on the promotion of the latter to Admiral's rank, in the vacancy that will be caused by the retirement of Admiral Sir George Elliot, K.C.B., under the compulsory age clause of the Order in Council of February, 1870, should not one sooner arise. The appointment of Vice-Admiral Coote will probably be gazetted about the 25th inst. He has selected as his secretary Mr. Benjamin Urwick, paymaster, H.M.S. Glatton, and late secretary to Vice-Admiral Sir Reginald Macdonald, when commander-in-chief in the East Indies.

The Iron Duke, Capt. Cleveland, which will replace the Audacious as flagship on the China Station, sailed from Portsmouth on her way down Channel. The following are the probable dates of the arrival and departure of the Iron Duke on her passages to China:—

A private meeting was held on the 6th inst. at the Lambeth Palace, under the presidency of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to consider a proposal made by Bishop Schereschewsky for the establishment of a college at Peking for the instruction of Chinese youths in Christianity and Western knowledge. The Bishop addressed the meeting at some length, urging the advantages which were likely to be derived from the establishment of such an institution. These advantages were fully admitted by the meeting, but both Sir Rutherford Alcock and Sir Thomas Wade sounded notes of warning on the difficulties in the way of raising the necessary funds. Ultimately a committee was formed if the present, among whom were Sir R. Alcock, Sir T. Wade, Sir B. Robertson, Colonel Yule, Dr. Birch, Professor Lousias, Messrs. Wylie, Foster, Hanbury, &c., which will deliberate on the practicability of the scheme.

CURIOUS ASSAULT CASE.

Fung Ahing, a house coolie, to Messrs Lane, Crawford & Co., was charged with assaulting a European, seaman by throwing a stone at him.

James Topple, the seaman so assaulted, said he was walking with two companions down the Queen's Road from the Sailors' Home. They were going to hear the band play. They passed a narrow lane on the left hand side of the road and witness heard some one call out something in Chinese, and on turning round he saw the defendant standing in the entrance of the lane, having something like a stone in his hand which he threw and struck witness on the left side of the neck (shows mark). Defendant then ran down the lane followed by witness and his companions. Witness followed them about half way down the lane, and saw the defendant struggling with his companions. He (defendant) had a bamboo with which he was striking the Europeans, but they disarmed him and took him into custody. Witness had given defendant no provocation. He cented that one of his companions struck defendant with a walking stick.

Defendant's companions gave corroborative testimony. Defendant was sentenced to 4 weeks' hard labour, but on Mr D. R. Crawford's appearing and giving him an exceedingly good character as a quiet industrious and inoffensive man the sentence was altered to a fine of $12 under Sec. XI. of Ord. 5 of 1850. Defendant has been in the service of Lane, Crawford & Co. over 5 years.

SUPREME COURT.

IN CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

(Before His Lordship Acting Chief Justice Snowden.)
18th September, 1878.

Regina v. Chan Apun, Wong Tin Kam, Wong Ahn, Leong Ahn & Ng Ahing.
The following gentlemen were empanelled as a Jury: Messrs D. McPherson, L. H. C. Jensen, W. W. Battles, J. S. Nager, A. G. Morris, P. Parlin, and P. Arnold.
The Attorney General (the Hon. G. Philippo) prosecuted.

The prisoners, the first three being men and the other two women, were indicted the first three for burglary and the whole five for receiving. They all pleaded not guilty. The facts of the case were simply these: A Chinese house was entered by means of a ladder placed down the stokey-hole and a box and various articles of wearing apparel stolen. An alarm was raised by the women of the house, and one man was seen going up the ladder followed by a coolie belonging to the house. Subsequently the first two defendants were seen in the street near the house and some women's clothes found on them which are said to have been part of the stolen property. A quantity of the stolen property was also found at the house of the third prisoner, and there was every reason to suppose the first two prisoners were going there when arrested. The two women were also found in the house and were consequently charged with receiving.

The first two were found guilty of burglary and the others of receiving. Sentence reserved.

Regina v. The Atsoi.

ATTEMPTING TO OBTAIN MONEY ON A FORGED STATEMENT.

The prisoner was indicted for endeavouring to obtain money on a forged order from one Hung Woo Choo, the master of a vegetable Lan in the Central Market. It appears that the prisoner was in the habit of selling vegetables to the Lan in question, and the practice was at such times for the coolies or waiters to call out the weight, and description of vegetables, and the name of the seller. The seller would then go to the accountant and get an order for the value of the vegetables, and the Lan being presented with a certain understood time, it would be paid. The prisoner taking advantage of this practice forged several of these orders, and on his attempting to utter one of these which was only for a small amount, the forgery was detected.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

After hearing the evidence the Jury found the prisoner not guilty.

Regina v. Li Ahn alias Chin Sa Kan.

WOUNDING WITH INTENT.

The prisoner was indicted on four counts with wounding with intent to murder, wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm, unlawfully wounding, and inflicting grievous bodily harm.

Both the prisoner and complainant are prisoners under long imprisonment in Victoria Gaol. The accused without any apparent cause took up a shot, and struck the complainant over the head, and witnesses stated that the prisoner had remarked at the time "I don't care, I will kill you dead if I'm hanged for it." The complainant became insensible, his skull having been fractured, and he has been under medical treatment for a long time, his life being at one time despaired of and his dying depositions taken.

The prisoner's appearance as he stood in the dock, was most strange. He looked a wild, and rather interesting young fellow, very slightly built, and stood with his hands crossed, scarcely moving the whole time, and apparently utterly indifferent as to what became of him.

Both the Judge and the Jury observed this, and the question arose as to whether he was not laboring under a fit of insanity. His Lordship asked Mr Mulgrave what the prisoner's conduct had been in gaol, and Mr Mulgrave said that before the prisoner committed the offence he appeared sane enough, but since then he had been so bad at times that he had had to be chained up.

It appears that when he threw the shot at the man he had said that some one was trying to poison him, and His Lordship remarked that this was a very singular thing to have entered into his head, as it was almost impossible for the prisoners to be able to poison anyone.

Dr. Ayres was recalled and questioned as to his opinion, and he said there were no signs of insanity in the accused other than that he was always very sullen. He had always been so. He would not do his work on one occasion, and he (Dr. Ayres) gave him a shock with a galvanic battery; whereupon the prisoner had said that, rather than have any more of that, he would do his work.

A juror said the prisoner looked ill. Dr. Ayres said he was in perfect health. Another juror remarked that he appeared very strange.

Dr. Ayres said he looked now as he always did, very sullen and bad-tempered. His Lordship, in summing up, remarked that he thought that the Jury should, whilst considering their verdict, dispel from their minds the strange appearance of the prisoner. He could assure them that if he (the prisoner) should afterwards be found insane, he would be taken proper care of.

The Jury found him guilty on the second count (wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm), at the same time recommending that the attention of the Government should be drawn to the man's strange appearance.

His Lordship said this should be done.

The Sessions were then adjourned until 10 a.m. to-morrow.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

(Before the Hon. J. Russell.)
18th September, 1878.

INTERPLEADER CASE—THE OPERA COMPANY.

C. B. Plunket (official assignee), Deagon, Durbach, and Bing Kee, and Lee Ahoy v. Thomas Sutton Lilley (de Lilley).

This case was resumed to-day at 3 past 2 o'clock.

Mr John Collings was first called; he said:—I was a partner of Mr Lilley's at Singapore in a troupe; it was designed.

The Royal English Opera Troupe, after Mr Vernon joined us. We gave one performance at Singapore in conjunction with Miss Eliza May and Mr Vernon. Mr Lilley had no Company before this. At that time the "Royal English Opera Company," consisted of Mr and Mrs Vernon, Miss Eliza May, and Mr McCallum. Mr Kugelmann bought the piano, and it remained in his hands. It has always been considered to be the property of the Misses Draeger.

I sent it away by the coolies to the steamer after Mr Vernon had packed it. It was never actually in the hands of Mr Lilley.

After it arrived here it was sent first to the Hotel, and thence to the City Hall, and the Misses Draeger saw it unpacked. It was never placed in anybody's room at the Hotel; but left in the passage until taken to the City Hall. The Misses Draeger always looked after it at the Hotel, in the presence of 4 or 5 witnesses, Mr Lilley said to-day that he was very sorry he should have given an order for the piano to be delivered over. He acknowledged that it was not his.

His Lordship ruled that this was not evidence, on Mr Toller's stating Mr Lilley was not a party to these proceedings.

Mr Denny said he did not see how the judgment creditors were going to substantiate their claim if this was not to be admitted.

Continued:—The Misses Draeger have exercised full control over the piano. It has been used for the Opera Troupe here.

Mr Vernon has paid the expense of the troupe, and he has also acted as Manager. It has been the intention of the troupe to leave this for Shanghai, and thence go to Yokohama, where the 6 months' agreement will be finished. It would cost about $800 for a passage from Yokohama to Melbourne, and $600 from here. The piano was bought originally for $423.

By Mr Toller:—It was not our intention to go to Manila; we talked of doing so, but were told that an English Opera Company would not pay there. The Misses Draeger refused to loan the piano to Mr Fairclough, but it was lent, as Mr Vernon said that he would lend it for one night. He did this as Manager. Mr Vernon has kept the key as Stage Manager, and sometimes Miss Draeger has had the key. I have seen them cleaning it. Mr Lilley paid the freight from Singapore. Mr Vernon gave orders for the removal of the piano to the City Hall. There was a verbal agreement made at Singapore that Mr Lilley was to pay all expenses, passages, &c., to his port. Mr Lilley is a partner now in the company.

Re-examined by Mr Denny:—Miss Eliza May's passage was also paid by Mr Lilley. Nothing was paid for the carriage of the piano or other stage furniture.

Mr Toller maintained that the letter from the Dutch Consul somewhat confirmed the case for the judgment creditors. He further contended that the piano had never been in the possession of the Misses Draeger during the whole time; it was never really taken possession of, in point of fact. Although an agreement was entered into, his clients were never parties to that agreement, and it turned out to be now so much waste paper. He contended that this was a secret disposition of property to defraud creditors of their rights.

His Lordship put it that, as these debts were incurred in 1876, there could have been no intention to defraud his creditors in this particular case.

Mr Toller replied that this would open a door to fraud of this description; and here Mr De Lilley was in joint occupation of the City Hall. Although Mr Vernon was also a partner, that did not matter.

Mr Thomas Sutton Lilley (otherwise De Lilley), called, sworn, stated:—I am in partnership with Mr Collings, under the style of the Royal English Opera Company. (Best of Partnership produced.) About 7 or 8 days before we left Singapore, Mr Vernon said we should require a piano; so I bought one, which was paid for by my behalf, by Mr Kugelmann, and as the matter of convenience it was stored at Mr Kugelmann's house. I got a receipt for it, the day before we left; Mr Kugelmann gave it to me, saying I would require it to show that it belonged to me. A verbal agreement was made with the Misses Draeger, to pay them salary in advance and return passage. The German Consul had an interview with me, and said he would prefer a money security instead of the piano; and if I could deposit or show security for $500, that would be sufficient. I went to Mr Kugelmann, and did not succeed; so we all met at the lawyer's office on the Saturday. They made an account to which I objected, and on explanation I made the total sum about $1,000 more than they had made it.

I could not then say how much the balance would be, but at the lowest it would be about $800. I then said I would give an order for $500, and we would get the agreement signed; but before signing it, I suggested that the clause about the piano should be erased. To this the lawyer and the Consul objected, as the money was only in expectancy, and they had only my word for it. I then asked for a new deed of agreement; but the lawyer said there was no time, as they were all going away next day. I had the receipt for the piano in my possession then. All the expenses to Hongkong were paid by me from Singapore. These were paid by Mr Kugelmann: I paid this man about 100 per cent. The piano was not handed over to the Misses Draeger; it was taken away from Mr Kugelmann's house as soon as the mortgage was signed. It was taken to the Hotel de l'Univers, and I paid the coolies for taking it to the City Hall. This is the first I have heard of the ownership of the Misses Draeger; they have never claimed any active ownership of it. Mr Collings (Kollings) paid the rent of the Hall for the first night, as I had no money. After the first night Miss Eliza May was engaged, and Mr Vernon was taken in as a partner, each getting a fourth.

Cross-examined by Mr Denny:—The bill for the piano was made out in Kugelmann's name, and was taken to his house. The piano was not in Mr Vernon's charge at all, though it was left in Mr Kugelmann's house for rehearsal. I practised my part there, and the performance and used; but I could not swear that it was not Mr Salzman's piano, as I was running about all day, and did not go near the hall. The Consul's words were, so far as I can remember, "The piano is not worth anything at all; you had better give us money security instead." I was asked to sign the agreement as it stood, but agreed to sign this one, as my lawyer said that the German Consul would give me a release when the $500 were paid. The others did not know that I had over $800 coming to me, over my debts, and the lawyers don't take a man's bare word. It was agreed that there was at least $800 coming, although I made it much more. The piano is the only security which the Misses Draeger had until the $500 were deposited. The cash has been handed over to the German Consul, at order from me. So far as I know, there was no one who heard me object and suggest an alteration in the agreement. I said to the Misses Draeger that I would not give $500 and the piano; but the lawyer and the Consul said the order for $500 was so much waste paper. The debts to plaintiffs were incurred in '76 or '77, and I bought the piano in August last, so that credit for the old debts was not obtained on the piano. I did not say that I was sorry that I was compelled to say the piano was mine; I said it would be a pity if the piano were taken, and it would be better to have the matter settled. I should have to go to Gaol if the case went against me, and if they did not go into Court, I would make them a present of the piano. This was in the hope that the money would come from Singapore, and I could pay the debt. (A letter was here read, from Singapore, stating that certain balance of money would be invested as arranged.) I have since countermanded the order to invest, by telegram.

By the Court:—I reckon it will amount to about $1200; but I cannot say how much for certain. I did not telegraph for a definite reply because I did not then know the piano did not belong to me. I have money coming to me at Singapore, but I have not as much now as pay for a telegram.

By Mr Denny:—I did not say that I acknowledged that the piano belonged to the Misses Draeger; I only said that the piano would be theirs if the case were kept out of Court, and I got time to pay the claim.

His Lordship suggested that a telegraphic transfer should be obtained from Singapore to a Bank here. Of course if nothing comes, and Mr Lilley's bona fide comes mala fide, and that will put a different complexion on the matter. It was most inconvenient for the Company to have such litigation going on, and if he had known that money was expected, he would have delayed execution. A telegram could now be sent.

The case was then adjourned to 3 past 2 o'clock to-morrow.

London, Aug. 24.—The Morning Post reports decline action on the part of the Viceroy of India with respect to Cabul, and failing the Amers' readiness to receive a British mission, it urges that England should annex Herat and Candahar. Hostilities have been resumed on the Turco-Montegagh frontier.

Vienna, Aug. 24.—The Austrian troops on the 21st attacked and routed the enemy after severe fighting at Solatz. The total Austrian loss up to the 16th instant was 978 killed.

Alexandria, Aug. 24.—The Khedive has adhered to the text of the arrangement for the cession of his estates and the reduction of his civil list.

London, Aug. 25.—The Porte has issued a circular note in which it refuses to grant extensions of frontier to the Northern Greek provinces. The London papers and the Continental press generally indicate an compliance with the proposals agreed to by the Congress. Russia has issued a new internal loan of thirty millions sterling.

Constantinople, Aug. 25.—The Russian headquarters have been transferred to Rodosto. The insurrectionary movement in Bosnia remains unabated despite the defeats of large insurgent forces at Doboj and Zitornik. Austria is mobilising eleven more divisions.

London, Aug. 26.—In consequence of British Consular reports accusing the Russians of connivance at the Bulgarian atrocities, Lord Salisbury has sent a despatch to the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg on the subject. A semi-official communication from St. Petersburg states that the imputation is an insult to the Russian army and interprets it as the intention of Lord Salisbury to intervene in Bulgaria and nullify the Congress arrangements, and adds that the Russian Government knows how to protect the rights of the Bulgarians during the year of occupation.

Constantinople, Aug. 16.—The evacuation of Batoum is postponed until the 12th September. The Porte, in order to introduce reforms in her Asiatic provinces, desires the aid of England to raise a loan upon the revenues of Cyprus. The insurgents renewed their attack on the 20th Division of the Austria at Doboj on the 24th, but were defeated and compelled to fall back after nine hours' continuous fighting.

London, Aug. 27.—The Times deprecates a hostile attitude towards the Amers, and says the mission, if wisely conducted, will be far more effective than an army would be.

London, Aug. 28.—The Times says our past policy of abstention in Afghanistan has proved a failure, and that Afghanistan must be our buckler instead of a weapon that may be used against us. The Times supports a conciliatory policy with the Amers and intervention on behalf of Yakob Khan. The Times announces that a Chinese diplomatist mission is going to Russia relative to the frontier question.

London, Aug. 28.—The Government has accepted the Peninsular and Oriental Company's tender for the conveyances to India and China of the mails for a period of 11 years. The Times announces that England will never again guarantee a Turkish loan or even help Turkey in obtaining one, as she cannot mix financial difficulties with the Anglo-Turkish Convention.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—The German Federal Council have adopted a bill for repression of the Socialists.

London, Aug. 29.—Lord Collin Campbell, the Liberal candidate, has been elected by a large majority for Argyle, defeating Mr Malcolm, Conservative.

Constantinople, Aug. 28.—The Lazis have abandoned their resistance to the Russian occupation of Batoum, General Todeleber has urged the Porte to send Turkish regular troops to occupy the Rhodope mountains in order to prevent conflicts.

London, Aug. 29.—The Daily News, in commenting on the death of the heir apparent to the throne of Kabul, (Abdullah Jan, youngest son of the Amers) urges that efforts be made to obtain the release of and restoration to favour of Yakob Khan, (the Amers' eldest son) but declares that any such English prestige must be maintained.

Constantinople, Aug. 29.—Mehemed Pasha has been entrusted with the task of removing the difficulty regarding the rectification of the frontier between Turkey and Montenegro.

(Herald, Sept. 12th.)

H. B. M.'s S. Swinger arrived in port on the 7th instant, and is now lying off the Foreign Settlement.

The Memorial to Lord Salisbury, on the subject of the recent Wu-shih-shan riot, has been drawn up by the Committee appointed for that purpose, and is now ready for signature.

We learn, on excellent authority, that the Chinese students to America have cut off their queues! If this report is well-grounded, and we entertain but little doubt as to its accuracy—observers of the kind of reception that will await these queueless sons of Cathay on their return to the Fatherland.

The social position and political influence of the native literati is a subject of some interest at the present moment. We find the following explanation of the term, in its general acceptance, in Mr Giles' Glossary:—

"The Literati. This term, while really including all literary men, of no matter what rank or standing, is more usually confined to that large section of unemployed scholarship made up of (1) those who are waiting to get started in an official career, (2) those who have taken one or more degrees and are preparing for the next, (3) those who have failed to distinguish themselves at the public examinations and prefer to eke out a small patrimony by taking pupils rather than engage in the petty-giggles of trade, and (4) those who, though possessed of sufficiently high qualifications, have no taste for official life, and are in a position to pass their time in the amiable seclusion of retired scholars."

Regarding the Mr Ho—"legal adviser" to a Provincial Government of Fokien, to whom allusion was made last week, as being prominently connected with the late outrage at Wu-shih-shan, we have since ascertained that this learned individual's full name is Ho Aloy, alias Ho Shen-cheo. He rejoices in an alias, of course, a respectable Chinaman do. It is only right, however, that the community should know something of the "legal adviser's" antecedents. Briefly, then, this miserable pretender to legal lore is better known as the clandestine interpreter of the Hongkong Police Court. Mr Ho Aloy might, we understand, to this day have adorned the lower ranks of the Civil Service of Hongkong; had he not in a rash moment devoted more time to the furtherance of his private ends than was deemed quite compatible with the public interests. At all events, Her Britannic Majesty's Colonial Government of Hongkong were under the impression that Mr Ho Aloy's services were not indispensable to the welfare of that Colony; and in short, Mr Ho was freed from the slavery of "barbarian" rule. He is now a white-buttock mandarin; and the Provincial Government of Fokien are happy in the possession of this peripatetic conglomerate of legal imposture and contemptible impudence.

Sept. 9th.
We hear that the Governor of Chekiang, while refraining for the moment from confirmed or reversing the decision of the Taotai of Ningpo in regard to the abolition of li kin, has disapproved of his treatment of the rioters, and insists upon the surrender of the leaders of the late riots. In order to strengthen the Taotai's hands, the Governor has sent a force of five hundred soldiers, accompanied by a Taotai named Liang, to whom he has entrusted the management of the operations necessary for the arrest of the ringleaders in question. It is said that the Taotai of Ningpo is doing his best to get his supplementary forces and their leader Liang Taotai, despatched to the Ting hai district, in the Tai-chow prefecture of Chekiang, where li kin riots have also taken place and two collectors have been killed.—N. Wuhu.

5th Sept.
The water in the Yangtze, at this point, writes a correspondent, is still stationary within two inches of the highest point reached during the summer; and seven hours' rain which fell yesterday, will, I fear, bring it up still higher. All this time it is falling, I believe, at Hankow and Kiating; but at Wuhu, we suffer from the overflow. I suppose, from the Po-yang lake, where there have been very severe inundations.—N. C. D. News.

Japan.

(Gazette.)

We are requested to state that there are several letters, addressed to "The Borneo Company," now lying at the Japanese Post Office in Yokohama.

The Chinese steward of the American ship Fielder has been tried at Kobe, before Mr. Acting Vice Consul Benson, and assessors, upon a charge of wounding the mate of that ship. The man was found guilty, and the following remarkable judgment was delivered:—

"Judgment.—Ah Low, you are convicted of an assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to commit manslaughter. No doubt provocation existed. The assault of the mate on you was unjustifiable and unlawful and would have been punished at the time had the facts been clearly shown."

"However, even a far more aggravated assault on the part of the mate did not justify you when in cool blood striking him with a weapon endangering his life."

"You are sentenced to two years' imprisonment from the day of your arrest, namely, the 26th August, 1878."

"The wages due you from the ship will be applied to the payment of the Hospital bill and medical attendance on the wounded man and for your jail expenses in this place."—Hague News.

We always understood that "intent" to kill was the distinction between murder and manslaughter.

The Justice H. I. Gerrall—which arrived this morning (Sept. 10th) from New York, lost her chief officer in a tragical manner on the 6th of July while on her way to Japan.

He was stabbed by a sailor (a Russian Finn) in an altercation, and lived only twenty minutes afterwards. The sailor has been confined on board in irons since the occurrence.

Captain Jacobs of the American ship Grandes reports having spoken the American ship Annie (from New York, bound for Shanghai). The Annie is reported having spoken the American ship City of Boston, on July 15th, off St. Paul, in latitude 37 degrees South and longitude 77 degrees East, all well.

The Pingang Gazette comments as follows upon the recent trial of the Chief Clerk in the Magistrate's Court in Province Wellesley:—

During the whole of Tuesday and Wednesday last the time of the Supreme Court was taken up in investigating the charges against the late Chief Clerk of the Magistrate's Court over at Butterworth.

The General, Mr Logan, prosecuted for the Crown, and Mr Thomas defended the prisoner, Leicester, who was charged with misappropriating three several sums of $500, $100 and $10 respectively. It was proved beyond doubt that the above amounts were duly paid to him and that they never found their way into the Treasury of the Colony, nor were they in the cash box of the Magistrate's Office when it was broken open, as the key was not forthcoming, the prisoner in whose custody it was, asserting that it had been stolen from him. The defence set up was, that when the prisoner last attended office and looked the box the sums in question were in it, that owing to ill health he could not attend to his duties and was laid up. During this time the key was stolen and the money abstracted from the cash chest by some person or persons unknown.

His Lordship, Mr Justice Wood, charged at length, and minutely went into the evidence on both sides, and towards the end he laid great stress on the remarks of the Council for the defence calling upon the jury to give their client "the benefit of the doubt." His Lordship explained in the most emphatic and explicit manner that the prisoner was certainly entitled to the "benefit of the doubt," provided it was a reasonable one. The Jury retired for about 10 minutes and came back with a unanimous verdict of guilty; but recommended the prisoner to mercy on the grounds of his previous good character and the extraordinary temptations to which he was exposed by having sums of money entrusted to his care without the least check being exercised over him by the Magistrate. The Judge, taking this recommendation into consideration, sentenced Leicester to 18 months' rigorous imprisonment.

So far as the prisoner is concerned, here ends the story, but there are several incidents which came out during the trial which the public have a right to have some light thrown upon. To commence with, it may as well be stated that the total amount embezzled by the prisoner amounts to about $1800, beginning with the sum of $500 paid into Court by Koh Tean Tek as a Fine, so far back as October 1877, and ending with some payments in March, and thinking it was stated. Now at the end of each month accounts were duly sent in to the Magistrate, verified before him in due course and forwarded by him to the Treasury, and yet the Magistrate never appears to have missed the sums that were embezzled, or taken any steps to examine or compare these accounts with the different books kept in the Court, and not the remotest knowledge appeared to be possessed by Mr Harvey, the Magistrate in question, regarding either the nature of the books kept or the routine of his office regarding the receipt or disposal of fines and fees. If over indifference and downright carelessness was displayed it has been by him, and it is to be hoped that he will be taught a lesson touching his lack of which he will not easily forget.

The most astounding fact however which was elicited during the trial was that in reply to frequent appeals from Leicester to his superior Mr Harvey, for more clerical aid to make up the half yearly returns for the blue book, Mr Harvey authorized the employment of an extra hand, but also issued an order to the Chief Clerk that the wages of this extra hand were to be paid out of the poor box of the Court. We publish the correspondence on the subject verbatim.

"To the Magistrate, Pro. Wellesley.

"The Court of Requests' half yearly returns are ready for transmission to Singapore, but the Police Court Returns are not. With so much work on hand and our small staff it would be impossible to have them completed before the end of this month. If a temporary clerk is taken on as suggested in my letter of the 18th ultimo the returns could be completed within ten days.

(Sd) M. N. LEICESTER, Chief Clerk.

4th March, 1878.

To Mr Leicester,

You had better engage a temporary clerk for this work but no other and pay him out of the poor box.

(Sd) D. F. A. HARVEY.

The above letters speak for themselves, and it is so rarely to be wondered at, that misappropriation should be the order of the day in an office of which the responsible head sets the example himself by an order under his own signature to his subordinate to misapply funds in his charge.

Captain Chierico, of the Italian bark Christoforo, which arrived here on Saturday from Java, reports having picked up an English sailor in Banks Straits, who was swimming on a piece of timber. The seaman states that he belonged to the American vessel, the Golden Grove, and jumped overboard when the vessel was about two miles distant from the Christoforo.

It is said that the Christoforo Governor has been deputed to deport two of the chief ringleaders in the recent Chinese riot in Province Wellesley. We understand that an order of the Government in Council for the banishment of the two men in question was issued on Saturday, and that instructions were at once telegraphed to the Lieutenant Governor of Penang to
